

Urdu Studies, Vol 4 Issue 1, 2024

Description

Dehumanization and Trauma: A Study of Sajjad Zaheer's "Dulari" and Sa'adat Hasan Manto's "Naked Voices"

Adarsh Narayan Parbat

DOI <https://zenodo.org/doi/10.5281/zenodo.13292492>

Abstract: This paper analyses two short stories, "Dulari" by Sajjad Zaheer and "Naked Voices" by Sa'adat Hasan Manto. These stories project characters who unknowingly violate people they believe they love and are their protectors. The analysis is an attempt to make one aware of the numerous ways through which one violates others both knowingly and unknowingly. The paper tries to elaborate the ways in which it becomes difficult for characters to question their own positions because they are unable to look within their own selves. One way to recognize a person as an individual is to understand or empathise with the conditions in which they have lived and suffered. The paper highlights the characters of the two stories who are subjugated and not understood by people close to them and as a result are left with no one to empathise with. The people who are close to the subjugated characters are not capable of introspection as they take away the dignity of the characters by dehumanising or objectifying them. The paper tries to argue that these characters are not capable of establishing an intersubjective relationship, as they are unable to affirm the subjectivity of another human being. They are also unable to reflect on their own inner processes that lead to such violations.

Keywords: dehumanization, trauma, objectification, humiliation, subjugation.

Read / Download Full Paper

Works Cited

Akhtar, Salman. Comprehensive Dictionary of Psychoanalysis. London: Karnac Books, 2009.

Alvi, Khalid and Vibha S. Chauhan. Ed. Angarey. New Delhi: Rupa Publication India Pvt. Ltd., 2014.

Basu, Jayanti. Reconstructing the Bengal Partition: The Psyche under a Different Violence. Kolkata: Samya, 2013.

Benjamin, Jessica. Like Subjects, Love Objects: Essays on Recognition and Sexual Difference. New York: Yale University Press, 1995.

Buber, Martin. I and Thou. Trans. New York: Scribner, 1970. Trans.

Foucault, Michel. Power/knowledge: Selected Interviews and other Writings, 1972-1977. Trans. Colin Gordon, Leo Marshall, John Mepham, Kate Soper. New York: Pantheon, 1980.

Gopal, Priyamvada. Literary Radicalism in India: Gender, Nation and the Transition to Independence.

New York: Routledge, 2005.

Jalil, Rakhshanda. Liking Progress, Loving Change: A Literary History of the Progressive Writers' Movement in Urdu. New Delhi: Oxford University Press, 2014.

Jones, Linda P. "Anxiety, as Experienced by Chronic Pain Patients." Journal of Religion and Health, vol. 24, no. 3, 1985, pp. 209–217. JSTOR. Web. 12 Feb. 2017.

Karlsson, Gunnar, and Lennart Gustav Sjöberg. "The Experiences of Guilt and Shame: A Phenomenological—Psychological Study." Human Studies, vol. 32, no. 3, 2009, pp.335–355., JSTOR. Web. 25 FEB. 2017.

Kimmel, Michael. "Masculinity as Homophobia." Toward a New Psychology of Gender, edited by M. Gergen and S. Davis. New York: Routledge. 1997.

Manto, Saadat Hasan. Naked Voices, Stories & Sketches. Trans. Rakshanda Jalil. New Delhi: Roli Books Pvt. Ltd., 2008.

Wallace, B. Alan. "Intersubjectivity in Indo-Tibetan Buddhism." Journal of Consciousness Studies 8.5-6 (2001): 209-230. Web. 23 Jan. 2017.

Winnicott, Donald W. "The Use of an Object." The International Journal of Psycho-Analysis 50 (1969): 711. Web. 7 Feb. 2017.

Adarsh Narayan Parbat is a research scholar currently pursuing PhD in the School of Letters at Ambedkar University, Delhi. His area of focus includes trauma studies and Eastern philosophical traditions. His research work has focussed on study of literary works which explore the human psyche, lived experiences and the complexities of intersubjective relationships. His research work has also focussed on the intricate questions surrounding the notion of selfhood, paradoxes and reality.

<https://orcid.org/0009-0006-2264-7464>.

anparbat.19@stu.aud.ac.in

Dehumanization and Trauma: A Study of Sajjad Zaheer's "Dulari" and Sa'adat Hasan Manto's "Naked Voices" by Adarsh Narayan Parbat is licensed under CC BY-NC 4.0

Date Created

August 10, 2024

Author

hashmiam